"I have been taking my boys to the Cleveland Basketball School now for 3 years. The training has been outstanding and something that I simply could not find elsewhere. One of Robbie Haught's strongest assets is his ability to handle the ball. Robbie has an unusual talent when it comes to ball handling and he communicates great with the kids. If you're goal is to improve your child's ball handling skills, you've found the right place, and definitely the right trainer!" - Ken Ganley

"The most visible change in today's game is ball handling skills across all positions. This is often what differentiates playing time. Robbie Haught began at an early age and has refined his ball handling through high school, and understands how to teach these skills to players of all ages and abilities. Our 3 children, boys and girls, have become more competitive players, whether Elite level aau or local rec ball, by participating in CBS' fundamental training. The specialized ball handling instruction is a worthwhile extension of CBS' core program." - Ted Parker
