"Quality instruction of basketball fundamentals combined with a John Wooden type of commitment to repetition, repetition, repetition of fundamentals in a fun and nurturing environment is the best recipe for growth and long-term success, on and off the court. What sets the Cleveland Basketball School apart from other providers is the rigorous development of skills - physical, mental, and emotional. Whether it's a player headed to Division I or a young athlete just starting out, the Cleveland Basketball School is bound to help her or him find fun in the fundamentals: hard work, respect, and love of the game."

Mark Siwik, Parent, Youth Coach, Stress Management Consultant
